BAND ORGANIZED AMONG ADA BOYS

OFFICERS ELECTED; TO HAVE 25 INSTRUMENTS, ALL EXPERIENCED BAND PLAYERS—MEETS WITH ENCOURAGEMENT.

The Ada band had its first business meeting last night. The meeting considered the many applicants who applied for positions on various instruments, it also elected the following officers: Carl Beck, director; J. W. Chauncey, secretary; H. P. Reich, treasurer; C. C. Chauncey, librarian.

Considering the enthusiasm with which so many of Ada's energetic and popular young men are taking hold of the band proposition, it appears certain that success will result. Already nearly twenty experienced musicians on band instruments have joined the band company and have evinced the intention of staying on the job. It is proposed that the band shall compose 25 instruments. Prof. Karl Beck and his fellow organizers state that other material sufficient to make up the full band is in sight and that it is only a matter of a few days before there will be some get together practices.

It is understood that the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association will encourage the Ada band.

MANY DROWN WHEN STEAMER GOES DOWN

Surf, Cal., July 7.—Twenty or more passengers and members of the crew of the wrecked steamer Santa Rosa of the Pacific Coast Steamship Line were drowned today in the surf while trying to escape from that vessel, which stranded near Point Arguello, six miles south of here, before dawn today. In two lifeboats today they left the ship, plunged into the surf and in a moment were floundering in the waters. The lives of some were pounded out against the rocks, while others sank. Several bodies were washed ashore.

At 9:30 o'clock tonight the Santa Rosa almost was submerged and frantic efforts were being made to save the rest of the 200 passengers still on board. At that hour the government wireless station at Point Arguello reported the vessel had broken amidship and that immense breakers were dashing over her. The ship will be a wreck and it seems certain that the number of dead will be large.

Try to Transfer Passengers.

The doom of the steamer was sealed shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon, when a rising wind stirred a high sea and forced the abandonment of the efforts to transfer the passengers to the steam schooner Centralia which, with the schooner Helen P. Drew had previously tried to float the stranded craft. Up to that time there was no apprehension of danger among officers and crew of the Santa Rosa. It was thought she could be floated easily. In fact Capt. Faria answered wireless queries with the statement that the ship was apparently lying easily and would be floated at the crest of the tide tonight.

Early in the day the Centralia and Helen P. Drew passed hawsers to the Santa Rosa but the wind was too strong for their limited horsepower and at dusk the Santa Rosa swung broadside to the breakers.

Immediately she began to break up. The crash of timbers and steel could be heard by the wireless operators at Point Arguello.

Lifeboats Submerged.

The first lifeboat was launched at dark, after every effort had been made to establish boat communication with the Centralia. The shore line lay only 300 feet from the broken ship, but the little craft could not make it. It bobbed on the crest of the breakers and the next instant was submerged. There were sixteen persons in this boat, eleven passengers and five of the crew. All were dashed to death against the rocks or drowned.

Another boat was launched. It met the same fate. There were about nineteen persons in this boat. Fifteen managed to reach shore alive, battered and most of them unconscious.

The wireless operator here received a message at 10:15 p. m. from the Centralia saying that the second mate and two seamen of the Helen P. Drew were drown while attempting to take a lifeboat to the Santa Rosa.

Cotton Around Konawa Not Suffering.

Notwithstanding the hot, dry weather the past week, cotton is holding up pretty well, and it is only a few fields that is reported to be hurt. From reports in every direction from town the prospects are flattering for a good yield. The stalk continues to grow and put on fruit and in some instances we find from ten to fifteen bolls upon a stalk, with lots of blooms.

One of the best samples that we have seen was brought to town Friday by W. A. Rogers fro ma thirty-acre field taken at random. The limb was about thirteen inches long and contained three half grown bolls with five blooms and squares. The last few days, however, has been trying on all vegetation and unless rain comes soon much damage will result from the hot winds.—Chief-Leader.

BULLDOG AND AEROPLANE MIX DOG DEAD; MACHINE WRECKED

Atlantic City, N. J., July 7.—The curiosity of a bulldog endangered the lives of Harry N. Atwood and Charles K. Hamilton, aviators, this afternoon, and compelled them to abandon their proposed flight from this resort to Washington.

Just as their biplane started from the ground the dog poked his nose into the whirling propeller. The dog was kiled, while one of the blades of the propeller was slightly split.

The biplane rose to a height of about 100 feet on a third effort. Then it was noticed that one of the propellers had a greater lifting power than the other and the machine sailed unsteadily.

The biplane was hovering over the edge of the ocean when a sudden gust of wind struck it and before Atwood could right the craft it suddenly plunged downward into the breakers. For an instant the aviators were hidden behind a cloud of spray, then a dozen life guards plunged into the surf and assisted the two men to free themselves and hauled the machine upon the beach.

BOOZE RAID CAUSES TROUBLE

CHIEF HAS ENCOUNTER WITH J. W. EVANS WHO OBJECTS TO SEARCH.

The usual quiet of the town was broken yesterday afternoon by an encounter between Chief Hounshell and J. W. Evans, arrested on a charge of bootlegging.

The chief had reason to believe Evans was selling liquor at his home on East 10th street, and after he and Patrolman Harris had watched the place for an hour or two they saw T. M. Belt go to the place and come out in a few minutes. The officers overhauled him and found a pint of whiskey in his possession, which he is said to have admitted buying from Evans. They started to the house and Evans left, but came back a few minutes later with Patrolman Harris. Just as Evans entered at the side door, the chief was pulling a whiskey case from under the bed. Evans is said to have cursed the chief and applying a vile epithet, ordered him not to molest any of his things. The chief then told him to consider himself under arrest. Evans then swore he would cut the chiefs heart out and the chief pushed him out of the door. Evans reached in his pocket for his knife, and according to the chief and Harris, his wife first began beating him in the back and as they went off the porch pushed between the two men, still beating on the chief. The officers say that with one hand he pushed the woman aside, telling her she was likely to get hurt, while with the other which held his club, he struck Evans on the hand in an effort to knock the knife out of his hand. From this the report was started that he had slapped the woman, but both officers deny it. Evans is said to have struck at the chief with a full sweep of his arm, but he struck the arm and knocked it down. Evans grabbed the knife with his other hand and hurled it at the chief, who ducked just as it passed over his head and at almost the same instant struck Evans over the head with his club, causing considerable blood to flow.

The case under the bed contained two pints, and two empty cases were found on the premises. On the way to the city hall Harris says Evans told him that another party owned a part of the booze, but the one named had quietly disappeared when the officers went after him. Evans made bond and was released.

According to a statement made by Evans to a citizen a short time after the trouble, the chief kicked him as he went out of the door, and when his wife followed them outside struck her in the face. Evans then struck at the chief with his fist and the latter began beating him over the head with his club. This statement is corroborated to some extent by other witnesses, who saw nothing of the alleged attack of the woman on the chief, and to whom it seemed that he slapped her instead of shoving her out of the way. They saw no knife and say that Evans backed off around the house, the chief following him and striking him several times.

POLITICS IN THE STATE SCHOOLS ABOLISHED

Shawnee, Ok., July 8.—Superintendent Scott Glen of Shawnee public schools, is the father of a civil service resolution that was unanimously adopted and went into effect at the last meeting of the state board of education held in Oklahoma City last week. The resolution makes provision for a permanent tenure of office for teachers in the state institutions after two years of satisfactory service. The resolution abolishes the old system of annual appointments and makes positions in the state institutions permanent during good service. It also prevents the making of wholesale changes such as took place in practically all of the state schools just after statehood. The resolution also aims to prevent any board to "play politics" in connection with the higher institutions of learning in the state.

Superintendent Glen when seen in regard to the resolution said: "I believe that the adoption of the civil service resolution means the dawning of a new day for the teachers of Oklahoma. It is something that teachers have been fighting for, for twenty-five years. Heretofore instructors have been uncertain at the end of the school terms whether they would retain their positions at the opening of the next term or not. This unsettled condition has had a bad effect upon the work of the schools. The annual appointment system is neither conducive to good service nor is it to the best interest of the state institutions."

The following is the resolution as it was unanimously adopted:

"The state board of education believes that the annual appointment of instructors and employees in the state institutions is not conducive to good service nor to the best interest of the institutions.

"The board of education further declares itself to favor the policy of making all appointments for an indefinite period of time, provided that after any persons has served two years to the satisfaction of the board his or her appointment is presumed to be permanent."

Bennett Won't Quit.

Muskogee, Ok., July 7.—"I've not resigned and I do not intend to resign as a member of the state capitol commission," said Dr. Leo E. Bennett, who was appointed a member of the capitol commission by former Governor Haskell. The action of Bennett, it is believed, will complicate matters in building a capitol building in Oklahoma City. Bennett, Tate Brady of Tulsa and Boone Williams of Lehigh were originally appointed by Haskell. Since Cruce has been governor he took the matter out of the hands of the commission and turned the work over to the state board of affairs. Williams and Brady have resigned. Dr. Bennett declares that his office was created by an act of the ltgislature and the governor has no authority to declare his place vacant. He is backed up by his attorneys.

GETTING READY FOR PROHIBITION ELECTION

Oklahoma City, July 8.—That an election on the question of prohibition for Oklahoma, will be held before the first of January, 1912, was the declaration made Friday by O. W. Hauck, of Oklahoma City, general state manager of the Oklahoma local option association. This association is conducting a campaign through the state in favor of local option. Hr. Hauck stated that petitions calling for a "clean, fair local option bill" will be circulated for signers in the immediate future. The petition must receive the signature of 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the state, before the governor is empowered to call the election.

Just what provisions the local option bill will contain, is not definitely known, even by Mr. Hauck. The association favors local option by precints or townships, in preference to local option by counties.

JOHNSTON COUNTY ACCEPTED PRISONER

Muskogee, Okla., June 8.—Kid Kelley, the "lost" prisoner, ever since statehood denied by both the United States government and the state of Oklahoma was yesterday tendered to the sheriff of Johnston county by Federal Deputy Marshal E. H. Hubbard, and accepted.

The tender was made upon the instruction of Federal Judge Campbell under the same legal rulings as govern the tendering of a payment of a debt. Upon the acceptance of Kelley, the sheriff of Johnston county filled out a written receipt for the prisoner and gave it to Hubbard. Thus a debt of the law was paid with a human life.

Eight years ago under the old federal regime when this country was the Indian territory Kelley was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. He appealed and was granted a new trial and again convicted and sentenced.

His second trial came about the time of the advent of statehood. Under the enabling act he, with all the other prisoners, was turned over to the state. The records in his case were lost and for eight years he has been held awaiting the execution of his sentence.

The state supreme court washed its hands of his case. The other day Judge Campbell, determined that the matter should be settled, ordered Kelley tendered to the officials of the county in which the crime was committed.

Would Improve U. S. Post Roads.

Washington, July 7.—The annual appropriation of $20,000,000 for five years to improve the post roads and rural delivery routes of the government was argued in the senate today by Mr. Swanson of Virginia. Contending that despite the amazing achievements in many directions scored by this country it is notorious that the United States has the poorest country roads and highways of any civilized nation. He said he regarded the subject as the paramount one before the American people.

Mr. Swanson explained that his plan would open up more than 1,000,000 miles of roads to government aid, that the states or local authorities would furnish an amount equal to that appropriated by the federal government and that the total would be divided among the states, according to population.

He said the limitation to postal roads and rules eliminated any constitutional objections. The bill would create a road department, consisting of engineers and capable officials to carry out the project.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL ADA, OKLA.

NOW OR NEVER.

On several occasions the News has pointed out the possibility of securing a branch of the M. O. & G. railroad. The management of this road has abandoned the idea of extending through Kansas and Texas, and has announced its intention of building up a big Oklahoma system. It has secured all the funds needed for building purposes and President Kenefick is even now studying conditions preliminary to locating the new lines. Of course these will be built to the places promising the greatest tonnage. In that line Ada ranks next to Oklahoma City and there is no doubt about that fact having great weight with the railroad, if properly put before the officals. With the immense amount of coal shipped in for the cement company, light plant, oil mill, compress, gins and for private use, the cotton and cement to be shipped out, why should not Ada be an attractive place for the road?

Three railroads do not make a town a real center, but when the fourth road is secured, things immediately begin to pick up, for that establishes a place as a real center.

Another thing in Ada's favor is its advantage of location. The largest tawn between Sapulpa and Denison on one side, and McAlester and Ardmore on the other, Ada has a territory that is unsurpassed by any other place in the state.

The News suggests that the Chamber of Commerce take the matter up at once. There can certainly be no harm done.

OF INTEREST TO BUSINESS MEN.

This issue of the News contains the first of a series of articles on the subject of business building, written by Dundas Henderson, a noted advertising expert. These articles are based on the actual experience of the most successful business men of the country and deal with problems that confront all men engaged in business. Many a merchant, while keenly alive to the value of advertising, finds himself badly handicapped because he has never had time to study the art of advertising, and does not have time to prepare a good one every few days. To this class these articles will also be of value.

It is all right for a town to go after all the new enterprises in sight, but this does not mean that it should neglect those it already has and turn to something new just because a few citizens have a grouch at the owners of the old ones. What profit is there in tearing down what is already in the field simply to try the experiment of building up a new one in the same line. No money was ever made by that.

To publish a paper without occasionally publishing an item that is incorrect is like running a railroad with no accdents. Few, if any, newspaper men publish items of news for spite or to get even with some one, or from other sinister motives. Friends and enemies are treated alike by the sensible newspaper man in his business of publishing the news, and items are not left out or put into the paper because of friendship or enmity.—Cisco Apert.

It isn't what you say about a man that makes him mad, as a rule; it is what he "reads between the lines." A man who is guilty of shortcomings is always afraid of being "found out," and frequently takes a harmlessly worded item as a veiled exposure of some of his cussedness. Some people, also, are abnormally sensitive, and are always on the lookout for a slight or a criticism, and frequently make an entirely different application than the one intended by the editor. Such people are to be pitied rather than blamed.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Object Lesson in Advertising.

Those who believe that women don't read the advertisements in the newspapers might have had a convincing object lesson of the fallacy of their views a few days ago. The proprietor of a chain of New York grocery stores determined to test the matter by inserting in all the leading papers a coupon which, presented in person, would entitle the holder to one dozen eggs for ten cents. The advertisements appeared in the evening papers, and on the following morning the streets in the neighborhood of all the stores were almost blocked with women. Special police had to be assigned to keep the anxious bargain seekers from fighting each other in their anxiety to take advantage of the great offer. Although the grocer lost money on the egg deal, he has gained hundreds of new customers and his business for the week following "egg day" has been the biggest he has ever had by thousands of dollars.

ARDMORE-LAWTON R. R. OFFICIALS HOLD MEETING

Ardmore, Okla., July 7.—The stockholders of the Ardmore, Duncan and Lawton Railway company met here and elected the following directors: A. L. Howe, J. B. Taylor and E. C. Lee of Philadelphia, E. F. Sutton of New York, Jake L. Hamon, R. L. Robertson, F. R. Ellis, M. S. Simpson and V. C. Robertson of Lawton. Officers will be chosen at Lawton tomorrow. It is said that J. L. Hamon will be temporary president and R. L. Robertson, secretary-treasurer. Henry E. Asp, an attorney of Muskogee, met with the stock holders today to assist them in drafting their by-laws and to guide the company in complying with the corporation laws of the state.

A. N. Bullitt, an engineer formerly with the Frisco, started out from Lawton today with a corps of fifteen men to make the permanent survey. Two lines will be run from Lawton to Duncan and three lines will be run from Duncan to Ardmore. Also the map of the Maxey survey from Ardmore to Duncan has been acquired and the company will make choice among four surveys between here and Duncan. Five miles of construction work out of Lawton has been contracted and Mr. Sutton stated today that work at Lawton would begin by the 15th of this month. The road will pass through the oil and asphalt fields of Carter county and will mean the development of these two industries.

BUSINESS BUILDING

By Dundas Henderson

Advertising Manager of the C. E. Zimmerman Co., Chicago

Persistent Advertising Brings Business Success.

If the money that is spent every year by "occasional" advertisers were added up it would be found to amount to a large sum. By "occasional" advertising I mean the use of space at irregular periods in your newspaper. Local publicity is often done this way under the excuse of helping the paper, but real reason, if the advertiser could be got to admit it, is that he is half-hearted about the matter. He partly looks upon advertising as a luxury anyhow, and so curtails his expenditure on it the lowest limit.

Although the retailer may regard publicity as a luxury, it yet seems to be a dream on his part that some day he will make some real success and a handsome fortune through advertising. Indeed, down deep in all retailers' hearts is a feeling that money can positively be made through advertising. They know that huge fortunes have been and are being piled up by retail merchants with the aid of this limitless force, and they have secret hopes that one day they also may strike the royal road to success. If they but knew it that road lies straight and plain before every retailer in the country if he would only open his eyes to see it.

John Wanamaker, the great New York and Philadelphia retail merchant, on one occasion said; 'Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls.' It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It is likened to a team pulling a heavy load. A thousand spasmodic, jerky pulls will not budge that load, while one-half the force in steady effort will start and keep it moving."

Here is the solution in a unt-shell —steady effort. The merchant who uses newspaper space "occasionally" is simply wasting his efforts. It is the steady pounding—and pounding again that makes success in advertising as in everything else. All advertising is good in proportionate degree to how it is done, and even occasional advertising has some value, but to be successful to the point of permanently increasing your bank account, it must be done persistently and systematically.

What would you say about a clerk in your store who waited on your customers for a day or two and then sat down to rest for a few more days, leaving the customers to attend to themselves? You know how long your business would last under such conditions. It is the same with newspaper advertising. Publicity in your newspaper is simply salesmanship on paper, and the same rules apply to it as apply to salesmanship in your store. Continuous effort and eternal polishing up of ideas and methods are necessary to make success either as a personal salesman in your store or as a salesman in your newspaper.

You advertise to sell your goods and keep your name in front of the people. It is only reasonable to suppose that you will be better able to do this with persistent effort than with spasmodic attempts. If you were to tell a man or woman daily about the quality and prices of your wares you would produce more effect than if you were to talk to him or her at uncertain intervals.

The question of changing the salesmanship or "copy' in your advertising space is an important one. It acts this way. Suppose you had a pile of some special goods for sale. suppose you were determined to sell some of these goods to some particular customer. After you had asked that customer to buy those goods would you, the next time you approached her, use exactly the same language and arguments? You know you would not. You would hunt up new ideas to attract her attention, new ways of convincing her and new methods to get her to buy. You must apply the same principles to your advertising. You must be continually hunting up ideas, new arguments and new ways of attracting and holding attention. Salesmanship in newspaper space is just the same as salesmanship behind your counter.

The trouble the ordinary storekeeper is up against is securing this sales manship on paper I have outlined. He can purchase advertising space readily enough and so long as he buys enough space for a long period to make a successful display he has done all that the successful merchant can do in that respect. But when it comes to filling the space the question assumes a different shape.

Advertising constructing is a profession like medicine or law. When you are sick you go to a physician. When your business wants toning up, why should you not go to a business doctor?—an advertising expert? There are on the market a number of what are called Syndicate Advertising Services. These can be obtained for as low as one dollar per week. They give you precisely the same service as is given to department stores and national advertisers by—first-class individual advertising manager. These services are usually supplied in a series of fifty-two advertisements, one for each week in the year, together with fifty-two copperplate cuts of high grade illustrations drawn by high salaried artists. The advertisements are constructed by writers of national reputation and with great experience, men who have made success for thousands of other retailers in the same position as yourself. The low price charged for these advertisements is only made possible because of thousands of the same advertisements that are sold to different merchants throughout the country. One only merchant in each town is allowed to use the service for his own trade.

Particulars of the best of these syndicated advertising services may be had from the manager of the News, and I earnestly advise you, as an up-to-date merchant to get them at once. "The early bird catches the worm' is a true saying and it is nowhere better exemplified than in this case; the retailer who uses a service of this kind here now will start himself on a near cut to independence and fortune.

There's Not a Store In Town

That Would, In Six Months From Now Be Half as Important as it is Now, if it Should Stop Advertising During That Time!

Isn't that perfectly true—perfectly logical? Can you imagine any store of which it would not be true?

And, if true, does it not follow that the reverse of the proposition is true, too—that the store that doubles its accustomed advertising for the next six months will also double its accustomed store growth for that period?

And does not this, also, apply to any store you can think of in this town?

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Get at the root of the trouble.

But it won't cure it.
You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it;
Reach the cause; relieve the pain.
They cure, too, so Ada people say:
Mrs. M. S. Kyser, 502 West Main St., Ada, Okla., says: "Last summer I suffered a great deal from a dull heavy ache through my back and hips. I thought it was due to a cold settling on my kidneys and that it would soon disappear. The pains gradually became moore intense and other symptoms of kidney trouble set in. I at length decided to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, and procured a box. After taking a few doses I felt much better and I continued using this remedy until every symptom of my trouble had disappeared. I am glad to state that I have had no return of kidney complaint."

GRAY HAIR WILL MAKE YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will effect the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial: and if you wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Water Famine at Stonewall

Stonewall is now experiencing a genuine water famine. Nearly all the wells in town have failed to some extent, and a great majority of them have played out altogether. Water is now selling for 35c per barrel, for family use only. Stock being barred from water in town. Last Friday the supply was insufficient and orders amounting to 8 barrels could not be filled. There is no prospect of rain and the only relief in sight is the completion of the water works which will be some three weeks more.

TRIAL OF CHIEF OF POLICE

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the justice court convened to try the charge of assault and battery filed against Chief Hounshell in connection with the arrest of J. W. Evans yesterday afternoon. The charge grew out of his alleged slapping of Mrs. Evans.

M. F. Manville was first placed on the stand. He testified that he was on his way home when he observed the chief and Patrolman Harris running up Main street and then across to 10th where they overtook Belt. Then they went back to the Evans place where the chief entered while Harris went after Evans, who was some distance from the house, Harris and his man returned to the house in a few minutes and entered the east door. In two or three minutes the two officers and Evans came out on the front porch. Evans drew back as if he wanted to get away. His wife got in between him and the chief when the latter struck at her. In the mixup that followed Evans seemed to be trying to keep out of the way of the club with which the chief was hitting at him. He never heard a word spoken. Was about 100 feet away. Evans had no knife or other weapon, so far as he could see.

W. B. Jones, who was at the crossing of the railroad, at the time of the trouble, testified practically the same.

Mrs. Evans testified that the chief came into the house and sat down. Her husband came in and told him to get up and get out and when he started out, the chief kicked him, and when he attempted to strike him she ran in between them and tried to shove them apart. The chief slapped her on the left side of her face with his right hand. Her husband made no attempt to get his knife. On cross examination did not know for certain what was in the three bottles which the chief found in a box under the bed, but supposed it was whisky. Was holding a child in her arms during the entire time of the difficulty.

J. W. Murphy's testimony was in line with that of the other witnesses. as was that of Mr. Lindstrom, agent for the Katy.

J. W. Evans was next called and exhibited the wounds on his head and said he had been struck a number of times. Denied that he attempted to draw a knife, and said that he made a grab for the club as the chief came out of the house with him and made an effort to strike him. That his wife came between them and pushed the chief back, and was struck by him. Then he began scuffling with the chief.

The state then rested its case. It being near press time the reporter was unable to hear the testimony of the defense, but R. C. Roland, attorney for the chief, had announced that the defense would prove the facts set forth in another column of this paper.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the case, the court room being packed with spectators. The jury was made up for the most part of men from the country.

THE TENT MEETING 8TH AND OAK AVENUE

Our meeting was fairly well attended last night despite the blustry evening. The subject tonight will be: "Present Truth."

All are invited.

Mayor Chapman Boosts Ada.

The following clipping from the Sulphur Springs (Tex.) News shows that Ada has a mayor who never lets slip an opportunity to put in a word for the town. It will be noted, however, that the paper misquoted him on the paving material.

"Shed Chapman is the mayor of Ada, Okla. He says his town has 40 miles of concrete sidewalks, the square paved and several blocks also in vitrified brick. Ada is also putting down 13 miles of 12-inch pipe to reach an abundance of water.

The GREATEST PLAY I EVER SAW AS TOLD TO Hugh S. Fullerton

By FRANK ROTH,

The Catcher Who Saved the World's Championship for the Chicago White Sox, and Who Is Considered a "Topliner."

There isn't a doubt in my mind but that the greatest play I ever saw in my career as a ball player was pulled off by Lee Tannehill. Late in the fall of the season the White Sox won their world's championship. If you remember, the team ran out of catchers late in the season and I was hurriedly secured to fill in the gap until Sullivan or some of their top-notch catchers could get into shape or recover from their injuries.

I was doing the best I could, and Fielder Jones had every one keyed up to top notch and going hard. A fellow couldn't help playing ball for a manager like Jones. I think he made every man on the team about ten per cent. better than he really was by his magnetism.

I think the game was against Cleveland late in the season. There was a runner on third, Cleveland needed one to win, and there was one out. Bill Bradley was hitting, and at times Bill used to catch hold of the ball and send it down the third base line faster than a shadow. Tannehill was in on the edge of the grass, taking desperate chances to cut off the run from the plate. Bradley evidently gave the signal that he intended to hit, for as the ball was pitched the runner coming from third was in full motion. Bradley drove the ball down the line viciously. It was one of the hardest hit balls I ever saw in my life, probably taking two skips before it came to the fielder. The runner had to leap over the ball to escape being hit by it as it dashed past, and that leap, I believe, saved the pennant for the Sox and enabled them to win the world's championship. The runner, in leaping, went off his stride, and lost at least one step, so that one might say the Sox won the world's championship by a step that year.

As the ball was hit Tannehill leaped and dived sideways. He either knew by instinct where it was coming or got a glimpse of the ball as it came under the runner's legs. He could not have seen it before that. as the runner was directly between him and the batter.

Tannehill has a wonderful pair of hands, and he needed them that time. He shoved out his hands and blocked the ball perfectly. In his effort to reach it he fell at full length, but so perfectly did he stop the ball that it dropped right at the spot where his hands struck it. I saw Tannehill struggle to his knees and that he had the ball in his hands. The runner was coming down on top of me at full speed, and he wasn't more than 15 feet from the plate when Tanny, still kneeling and without time enough to rise to his feet, cut loose a desperate throw to the plate. It didn't seem as if he had a chance. The runner was on the line between Tanny and me. The ball came right under the runner's arm as I squatted in front of the plate. I thought sure it would hit his arm, but as he ran the arm went up, the ball just grazed his sleeve and came straight into my hands. There was no time to dodge or protect myself. The ball and the runner hit my hands almost at the same instant as the runner slid. I had the luck to hang to the ball and we rolled across the plate together. Tannehill's magnificent play and nerve had saved us.

Little Willie—Say, pa, according to this table of English weight and measure 14 pounds make one stone.

Pa—Yes, that's right, my son.

Little Willie—But, pa, what I want to know is how many pebbles it takes to make a pound.

S.S.S. CURES RHEUMATISM

The usual cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood which weakens and acidifies this vital fluid, and prevents the proper amount of nourishment being afforded the muscles, nerves and tendons. The pains and aches of Rheumatism may be temporarily relieved by the use of liniments, hot applications, and other external treatments, but the disease cannot be permanently benefited by such measures, and is bound to become chronic and dangerous if such things are depended upon alone. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism in the only way it is possible to cure the disease. It goes down into the blood, and removes the uric acid from the circulation so that the nerves, bones, muscles and joints are all lubricated and fed with nourishing matter instead of being constantly irritated and inflamed with the sharp, acrid impurity. When S.S.S. has cleansed and purified the blood the pains and aches cease, all inflammation disappears, stiffened muscles are made supple, and every symptom of Rheumatism passes away. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free to all. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores.
